Staycation in Style

You love: Posh and bohemian

You can't travel without: Your beloved French bulldog

You order: Sushi from room service

Destination: Hollywood

Where to stay: The Redbury Los Angeles

Curated by creative director and photographer Matthew Rolston, in collaboration with hotel and restaurant maverick Sam Nazarian, sbe founder and CEO, The Redbury has taken over the iconic corner of Hollywood and Vine with its nouveau Victorian furnishings that encapsulate the Golden Age of Hollywood. Perfect for a weekend getaway, the guest rooms are flats with comfy amenities such as full kitchens. This is the hotel for those who like to be in the thick of it all. Complementing The Redbury's plush interiors are its delicious restaurant Cleo (don't miss the flash-fried brussel sprouts), tucked-away Library Bar and outdoor courtyard Glade. Coming soon: The Redbury Soho.
